SONS OF DANIEL BOONE SURPRISE PASTOR ADAMS

The Sons of Daniel Boone, Camp Howard, raided the home of W. W. White, Thursday night, to surprise Rev. and Mrs. Adams. A messenger was sent to interview Mrs. White who told him the minister and his wife were taking dinner with Dr. and Mrs. Ault but would be at her home later to spend the night. The company retreated in ambush behind parlor furniture and awaited the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Adams. Other guests called during the evening to say goodbye and the war whoop that came from their hiding places created quite an exciting break in the quiet conversation. The boys remarked that Emmett Forsythe wanted to make a speech, to which Rev. Adams replied, "It would not seem like a natural meeting of the company if Emmett did not speak." His speech was a well delivered presentation of a postal album containing views of Enterprise and Wallowa county. Rev. Adams responded in a sympathetic way and told the boys of a letter he had received from General Howard for whom this camp is named, how the General had expressed the wish that they all might be scouts to bring in recruits for the Master. Their cry was again given just outside the gate. In speaking of the surprise afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Adams said the kindly feeling of these boys and the friends who had expressed sincere regret at their departure meant far more to them than the hundreds who had attended the farewell reception when they left Ohio.

Work Begins at Swift's In July

Oregon Farmers Should Furnish the Hogs—Sale of Ladd
Farm.

Portland, April 30—Swift & Company announce that they plan to begin actual packing operations in their new plant at Portland in July. This brings to the surface the necessity for the farmers of Oregon to grow more hogs. Pigs can be raised until they are three months old on vetch and other roughage at practically on expense other than for pasture. A fat 200 pound hog in Portland today is worth $15.50 cash. Live weight. The packers will have to get a supply, —must they send the money for the hogs to Nebraska, or will we raise them in Oregon?

The Livestock Sale at the Portland County Club this week means a great deal to everyone in Oregon. Saturday and Sunday witnessed thousands of people visiting the grounds to inspect what is universally conceded to be the greatest gathering of blooded horses ever collected in the Pacific Northwest to be sold to the highest bidder. The sales at Portland have uniformly been more successful than even those in Chicago, in proportion. The sale will continue up to Friday night at the Country Club, Saturday being devoted entirely to cattle at the Union Stock Yards. Oregon is making a wonderful showing, and there is assurance that buyers will be here from all neighboring states and British Columbia.

Two millions of dollars for the four hundred and sixty two acres universally known as the "Ladd Farm," puts Portland city lots in a class with Oregon orchards, and the developers of this magnificent property will certainly be satisfied if it pays dividends equalling those of a well-kept, modern orchard.

While estimates as to the present population of Oregon vary, some men who have the right to be called well posted feel that the state today has upwards of three-quarters of a million people. With every county in the state getting new settlers, some have attracted a greater immigration during the past year than for five years before.

A party of Illinois investors recently clubbed together and sent one of their number, who had visited Oregon during the Exposition, for a trip through the state. Upon his return to Portland, this gentleman said he had found Oregon people much changed. At that time they were intensely conservative, today they are enthusiastic, optimistic, and unanimously predict a great future. In fact many of the communities are growing so rapidly that they imagine they have ALL the growth, but those who have seen the new orchards, the substantial farm houses and other improvements taking place everywhere, know that the next decade will see record-breaking advancement along every line. Asked if he was satisfied, he replied: "I wouldn't return to Illinois, but shall remain here to receive my friends who are coming in parties of three, five and even ten."

Mrs. Alex Mavor opened up the Enterprise restaurant Thursday.

Commissioner Sam Litch went to Wallowa Friday to make an inspection of the M. P. Miller road, the new road to Sied Springs. The canyon part has become almost impassable because of range stock causing rock slides, etc. A special appropriation is asked to clear it out.
